ething Better Than the Old Saw.

The saying about the lion and the lamb in March often proves false, but there is another and a better one which is literally true. When March comes in and finds you taking Hood's Sarsaparnila to purify, enrich and vitalize your blood, you may expect, when it goes out, that it will leave you free from that tire deeling and with none of the boils, pimples and eruptions which manifest themselves because of impure blood in the spring. The improvement noted in recent numbers of Everybody's Magazine, is still more conspicuous in the Marchissus. This is a first rate magazine, brinful of individuality, containing remarkably fine stories and articles of distinct interest and readableness. Among the ten-cent monthlies it is rapidly forging to the front, and it, bids fair to contest the supremacy of its most widely circulated contemporaries.

REFUSED THOUSANDS

The Other Side of the Belief That Magazines Take All the Advertising They Can Get

The people who read newspaper The people who read newspapers and magazines have, as a rule, a belief that publishers have no conscience about loading up their periodicals with advertisements at the cost of reading matter. Yet occasionally some proof comes to the surface that publishers have some scruples in this respect. The Lander Memor Lorent for example surface that publishers have some scruples in this respect. The Ladies Home Journal, for example, will accept just so many columns of advertisements, and no more. This proportion, for instance, is 70 columns of advertisements as against 122 columns of reading matter in each issue of 48 pages. When the advertising space is full all business is declined. The skeptical may ask, "But is there any business left to decline?" There is, decidedly, For nearly every issue ness left to decline?" There is, de cidedly. For nearly every issu-during 1900 there were from four to twenty-six more sirable advertise twenty-six more columns of de-sirable advertisements received than could be accepted, and as each column in the Journal costs $1000 the publishers turned away thous-ands of dollars, which, simply be-cause of principle, they would not accept. So the interests of the pub-lic are sometimes regraded where lic are sometimes regarded where they are not popularly supposed to

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains From and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's 1s the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows Chill Tonces are imitations. An analysis of other clinic distances shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

at the bottom of the ditch which he has dug, he patiently waits for his pay.

If any ant unwittingly ventures to the borders of this embankment, it generally rolls down to the bottom because of the sloping nature of the brink, and the sand giving way beneath its feet, the tiny insect is forced thus to follow the dangerous declivity until it falls into the power of its destroyer, the cunning ant-lion, who, by means of its horns, draws it under the sand and feasts upon its blood.

When he has sucked all the juices from the ant's body, he sets to work to eject the dry carcass from his abode, repair any damage his trench may have suffered, and puts himself again in ambush to await a new victim.

He does not always succeed in getting an ant the moment it falls. It often escapes him, and endeavors to mount the sides of the funnel-shaped cave; but then the ant-lion works with his broad head, and throws up a shower of sand, which descends upon his captive, and throws up a shower of sand, which descends upon his captive, and throws up a shower of sand, which descends upon his captive, and throws up a shower of sand, which descends upon his captive, and throws up a shower of sand, which descends upon his captive, and throws up. Though the ant-lion prepares its trenches before it has seen the animal it is to ensare, how can a better mode of entrapping its prey be devised than the digging in movable sand, and making the pit sloping or funnel-shaped? Or what better mode of preventing its escape than the throwing of the sand-showers to cut off all retreat?

It is not so much what the newspapers say, as to what neighbor, or friend to friend that has brought Chamberlair's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoes Remedy into such general use. It is as natural for people to express their gratitude after using this remedy as it is for water to flow down hill. It is the one remedy that can be depended upon, whether a baby be sick with cholera infantum or a man be sick with cholera morbus. It is pleasant safe and reliable. Wilson nimself teatified Wednes-day afternoon. He claimed that the Wrights were creating a dis-turbance and he went there as a peace officer. He told Alex to con-sider himself under arrest. Dick Wilsthe structured toward him and he peace officer. In total rates to Consider himself under arrest. Dick Wright started toward him and he sapped at him and seeing alex, as he thought, about to draw a pistol te turned and shot him. This story was wholly at variance with that of the prosecution's witnesses and the attempt to make it a case of self defense was very weak.

The argument of the case is expected to be concluded to-day, and a verdict may be returned this afternoon or to morrow.

As, Wilson has had erratic spells several times in the past, it is not likely that he will be given a death sentence, but anything short of a long term of imprisonment will be a surprise to the public.

be Again Put in the Way of Free Delivery.

The post office inspector who was here this week was led by some one to believe that the house numbers of Hopkinsville should be changed and an entirely new system adopted and every house owner in the city forced to buy a new number, before the city can be made ready for the free delivery system July 1st. This same question came up two years ago, when the city first became entitled to the free delivery that was delayed until Congressman Allen took the matter in band and brought it to the attention of the department. Prof. Weiland, one of the great-estauthorities on fossil bones of this kind, after carefully examining those found on this reservation, declares, that they were left there at least 2,000,000 years ago. One of the largest bones exposed is a femur which is ten feet long, and the smallest diameter is twelve inches. It is very heavy and will probably have to be removed in sections. Bones of a smaller animal of the same spaces have been found in the same place. Prof. Weiland estimates that the longer one was eighty feet, and the shorter one was eighty feet, most all of the bones have been located, and it is selieved that it will be possible to get enough of them to mount at the museum, both anima's complete.

PHILAPS BROOKS.

Several Good Stories Told of the Laboratory Transons Divine.

Eight years ago Phillips Brooks was in the prime of life. Just before the Christmas season began he was called on to perform the marriage ceremony for a leading Boston banker, who gave the bishop a $1,000 bill. I chanced to call at the parsonage the same evening, and Bishop Brooks asked me how he could best obtain the names of 700 or 800 needy and worthy people who could appreciate a Christmas turkey. I suggested the reporters of the great dailies would aid him.

The next day he carried out my suggestion, and from the names furnished him made nearly 900 homes happy by sending to each a turkey or two chickens, and a quart of cranberries.

The late Col. Robert G. Ingersou, the famous skeptic, was one of the most pleasing of story-tellers, says the Philadelphia Press. In 1896 he lectured in Chicago on "Skulls." After the speaker had returned to his hotel with several friends, I called upon him and we were entertained for over an hour with his brilliant flashes of with the property of the property of the property of the form of the flashes of wit.

One of the anecdotes which he told was on himself, and was in substance this: Some years before, being in Boston, he had called to pay his respects to the late Bishop Phillips Brooks, of Trinity church.

The certant informed Col. Ingersoll it was "sermon day" and Dr. Brooks could not see him; that many church people had already been druicd admission. Bishop Brooks learned that Col. Ingersoll was without, and at once gave instructions that he be admitted.

After the injerview and as Col. Ingersoll was about to leave he said to the great divine:

"Dr. Brooks, I am under obligations for the time you have given me. I understand you have denied yourself to some of your own church people, and you have a 'mitted me, an entire stranger."

"Oh! don't mention it," said the bishop. "They are my church mem-bers, and I shall see them all again, here or hereafter"—and here the min-ister paused—"judging from your be-lief, I may never meet with you—over these."

there."

As they passed the library he no-ticed an elaborate celestial globe, which had been sent the divine not long before with the compliments of the manufacture). It was a magnifi-cent work, having on its surface in delicate workmaship raised figures of the constellations and of the stars which compress them.

BABY FARMING IN GERMANY.

How the Little Tots Get a Change of Air Once a Year.

Have you any children you would like to exchange?

Not permanently, of course, but long enough to afford a wholesome bit of rest to both sets of children and bit of rest to both sets of children and both sets of parents.

In Berlin, Germany, where various other good ideas are in operation, the transfer of children is already an established system.

City children are exchanged for country children, and vice versa.

The children of the city poor are usually fated to stay in the place where they were born without any opportunity for change into a country life. Country babies are likewise confined by their poverty to a very small territory. territory.

Wednesday Night.

Ex-Gov. Bob Taylor, the greatest of all lecturers, delivered his new lecture called "Sentiment" at the Opera House Wednesday night to an audience of about 600 people, the largest audience ever gathered in an audience of about 600 people, the largest audience ever gathered in the Opera House on such an occasion. Every one of the 414 seats was sold and many filled the gallery or occupied seats on the stage, while "standing room only" was sold to many late comers. The lecture was along the same lines as the others, all of which have been heard by Hopkinsville people. It was made up of sentiment, pathos, teloquence, song and anecdote.

The material was new but the style and originality were the same that have made Bob Taylor famous. One of Gov. Taylor's stories that called for the greatest applause was about an old German whose nose was accidentally cut off. The man placed it hack on, bandaged it and ever afterward refused to allow anybody to see it. He had placed it on upside down and remarked that he got along very well and the strangled when it rained and when he sneezed he blew off his bat.
